

CS 115

Kai Chang
SP 2016

April 4, 2016

1 Week 1

2 Week 2

2.1 Monday

- Packages in Haskell are known as Hackages.
- `:t` stands for type to identify types for variable form.
- pointfree gets rid of all the arguments, just put in your code and then it does what Mathematica is "FullSimplify".
- goes with `input → input → etc... → output`